Tips for pronouncing Spanish

The good news about Spanish pronunciation is that it obeys clear phonetic rules, although people do speak with different accents, depending on their region and background.

Vowels

Each of the five vowels has its own clear sharp sound:

a as in hat

e as in pet

i as in feet

o as in clock

u as in drew

c's and z's

c + e = th

cero, once

c + i = th

cinco, gracias

z + a, o, u = th

zapato, corazón, azul

c + a = ka

casa, catorce

c + o = ko

cómo, color

c + u = ku

Cuba, cubano

j's and g's

J, as in jardines (gardens), is a harder, stronger version of the English 'h'. G, when followed by e and i, sounds exactly the same as j.

Otherwise, it is pronounced as the English 'g' in go.

ll's

The double ll, as in calle, is another characteristic Spanish sound. In most parts of Spain it's like the 'lli' in the English million.

h's

The h is silent in Spanish, so you won't be blowing any candles out when you pronounce words that begin with this letter. Best to imagine it's not there and pronounce the second letter in the word.

hablo, helado, ¡hola!, huevo

We will focus on these 4 during the Autumn Term.

We will add these during the Spring Term and combine with the first 4.

We will add these during the Summer Term and try to produce speaking and writing that includes all these elements.

It's always important to keep the number of spelling mistakes to a minimum!

What is the tick grid?

The tick grid is a tool to help you plan a piece of speaking or writing. You use it to decide what language to use in your work. It is also used by the teacher to mark your work and give you helpful information, for example, how many of each language element you tried to use and how many attempts were successful. It helps you to see clearly how you could improve on each piece for the next time.

What is the ? column for?

When you plan your work, your teacher will decide with you how many examples of each element you want to include. You write the number in the space provided.

What are the smiley/sad faces for?

Your teacher will put a line for each correct attempt in the smiley column and one for each unsuccessful attempt in the sad face column. It's always better to have a mark in the sad face column than a complete blank.

enorme/ gigantesco	enormous	minúsculo	tiny
puntiagudo	jagged	suave	smooth
brumoso	misty	soleado	sunny
serpenteado	meandering	derecho	straight

NB: Most of these adjectives end in 'o'. When describing a feminine word ('la') you change the 'o' to 'a'. Adjectives ending in 'e' stay the same.

Rules about adjectives

An adjective is always describing something, and that word is a noun. In Spanish you have to look at the noun's gender and number and then decide whether the adjective you are using needs to change.

Agreement

The adjective should have the same number and gender as the noun it describes. Sometimes the adjective does not have to change. The two rules for deciding are as follows:

if the adjective ends in -o then the o must change to a if the noun it describes is feminine;

if the adjective ends in any other letter do not change it – except: if the adjective describes the nationality or regional origin of the noun, then it must be made feminine if the noun it describes is feminine;

if the noun is plural, the adjective should be made plural too.

For example:

	singular		plural
	masculine	feminine	masculine	feminine
short	bajo	baja	bajos	bajas
blue	azul	azul	azules	azules
English	inglés	inglesa	ingleses	inglesas

Position

In sentences where the noun and the adjective come next to each other, in Spanish it is the noun which comes first, usually. In English it is the other way round. For example:

We have a blue car

Tenemos un coche azul

A big garden

Un jardín grande

The tall girls

Las chicas altas

Some difficult lessons

Unas clases difíciles

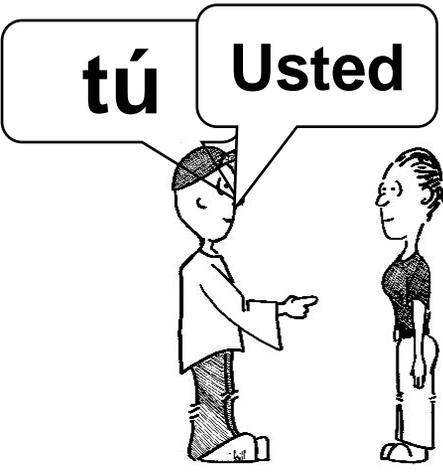

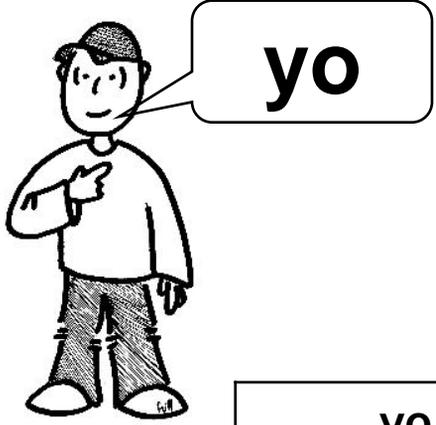

There are very few cases where the word order is the same as in English. We will learn about those in year 9!
